U. S.-British Talks Shift to World Affairs

Truman, Churchill Resume Conference At White House

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill opened a detailed survey of world affairs today. Informants said the talks began with an inquiry into western defense problems.

Churchill appeared for his first White House visit of his current trip three minutes before 10 a. m., accompanied by Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador to the U. S.

Some informants said an agenda for the two days of White House conferences was agreed upon at a private talk among the leaders and their foreign ministers aboard the yacht "Williamsburg" Saturday night.

Discuss NATO
This was described as listing for discussion first a number of matters such as organization of a European army and the structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) which are vital to the defense of western Europe.

A 75-minute conference of the two leaders and their top advisers aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg after dinner Saturday night was described by White House Press Secretary Joseph Short as having been on "the friendliest basis."

Truman Leads Talks
Truman, presiding at the head of the table in the ship's dining compartment, led off the discussion in which Churchill, British Foreign Secretary Eden, U. S. Secretary of State Acheson, Treasury Secretary Snyder and Defense Secretary Lovett all spoke in some detail.

There was no official disclosure of what they said, but authorities indicated they generally emphasized the importance of Anglo-American cooperation.

The discussion reportedly brought out as problems to be dealt with such issues as relations with Red China (which British recognizes), the Anglo-Iranian dispute over oil which United States officials have regarded much more fearfully than the British as a potential source of new Russian trouble; and the British-Egyptian row over a Suez canal guard force, and the Sudan, which the United States regards as a source of possible Russian trouble.

There was no meeting between the president and prime minister Sunday. Instead Churchill and members of his party lunched at the Pentagon with Defense Secretary Lovett and other American officials and military leaders.

Will Enter Kefauver in Ohio Primary

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) announced today a complete slate of delegates will be entered in the Ohio Democratic primaries for Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) for the presidential nomination.

Hays made his announcement at a news conference.

Ohio law requires that a candidate for a party primary nomination enter his consent in writing before delegates may be placed upon the party ballot.

Asked if he had such a written approval for Senator Kefauver, Hays replied:

"I don't have it at the moment. But I've been in politics for 20 years and you'll just have to assume I know what I'm doing."

It was Hays who last month emerged from a White House conference with President Truman saying that the president would issue a statement by Feb. 6 telling whether or not he was a candidate for reelection.

Grand Jury Indicts Rockford Man Here

Frees Coleta Man of Rape; Inspects Jail

Erick Haglund Will Appear in Court Wednesday

The January Lee county grand jury convening today failed to indict Albert Leroy Johnson, 29, Coleta, for the alleged rape of his 16-year-old sister-in-law.

However, the jury returned a true bill against Erick Haglund, Rockford, for failure to pay "e amount due the entruster under a trust agreement. Haglund will appear in court to plead Wednesday.

Claimed Assault
Johnson was charged with assault with intent to commit rape. He is free on $5,000 bond. The Rock Falls girl claimed that Johnson took her for a ride after Sunday school and raped her on a country road just east of the intersection of Rts. 26 and 30.

Haglund allegedly borrowed money under a trust deed to buy a 1950 automobile then sold the car without repaying the loan. Haglund is free under $3,000 bond.

No Jail Recommendation
In addition to hearing evidence on the two cases the grand jury inspected the county jail and made a report. However, the jury did not recommend that a new jail be built as another jury did after three prisoners escaped from the obsolete structure last January.

All that this jury reported in regard to the jail was that there was one male and no female prisoners.

Lester Dinges, Sublette, was appointed foreman of the jury. Two of the regular panel of 23 failed to appear and two supplementals, Vernon Noyes, Alto township, and Mildred Price, Amboy, were named to take their places.

Issue Letters in $4,000 Polo Estate

OREGON—The $4,000 personal property estate of James E. Malory, Polo, who died Oct. 26, 1951, will apparently go to his only heir, H. Wynona Brennan, 301 Congress st., Polo, according to the letters of the estate, issued today by Ogle County Judge Helen Rutkowski in county court.

The heir was also appointed executrix of the estate.

Issue Two Ogle Wedding Licenses

OREGON — Two Ogle county marriage licenses were issued Saturday. They were:

To Reino Nori, former athletic coach at Ogle high school, and Lucille Kean, both of DeKalb; and to Donald Schriener and Shelley Elmer, both of Mt. Carroll.

Seven Perish in Million-Dollar Massachusetts Apartment Fire

WESTFIELD, MASS.—(AP)—At least seven persons perished in a $1,000,000 five-story apartment-business block fire last night. Firemen still poured water into the smoldering ruins more than 12 hours after the blaze, punctuated by three distinct explosions, as they awaited permission to search the debris.

Only a shell—four shabby walls—remained today after the entire five floors collapsed into the basement of the building in a tangled mass of wreckage.

Fourteen persons were believed to have perished at first.

Fifteen persons were injured, 13 serious enough to be kept at Noble hospital. The other two were discharged after treatment.

Two others were said to be in a fifth-floor bowling alley but police weren't able to verify that up to an early hour today.

All five floors collapsed into the cellar in a tangled mass of burning wreckage that firemen found impossible to probe immediately.

14 Injured
Fourteen other persons were injured, 12 serious enough to be kept at Noble hospital. The other two were discharged after treatment.

Fire Chief Jeremiah A. Moriarty estimated property damage at "more than $1,000,000."

French Cabinet Falls in Fight Over Economies

PARIS — (AP)—Premier Rene Pleven's five-month-old cabinet collapsed tonight.

The French national assembly ousted the coalition government after hearing a final plea from Pleven for a freer hand to deal with the economic situation in this hard-pinched country.

The defeat came on his demand for power to cut the 140 billion franc deficit of the nationalized railway system.

The Socialists, which have supported the cabinet on most issues, broke away on this one. Many of the railway workers are Socialists and the party leadership feared economies on the roads would result in large scale firings, and so decided earlier today to oppose the government demands.

Dixon Police Check Three Auto Crashes

Dixon police checked three auto accidents Sunday and Monday but no injuries were reported.

At 10:30 p.m. Sunday autos driven by Russell Lyle Helfrich 21, of 623 Lincoln av., and Ben Howard, Dixon, collided at Hennepin avenue and First street when Helfrich was passing the Howard auto, according to the report.

Another accident occurred Sunday when a car driven by Frank Schaffler, Rt. 1, Franklin Grove, and an auto driven by Merlyn Ryan, 314 Poplar st., collided. Police reported that Schaffler drove across Galena avenue on Second street headed west then stopped his car. Ryan made a right turn off Galena and ran into the rear of the parked car.

The bumper and tail light of the Schaffler auto and the right front fender and grill of the Ryan auto were damaged.

Autos driven by Martin Dieterle, 1006 N. Dement av., and Mrs. C. C. Clausen, 515 E. Chamberlain st., were involved in a minor crash at 8 a.m. Monday at Peoria avenue and Second street.

Milledgeville Truck Strikes Mendota Freight

MENDOTA — (Special)—Franklin Smith, Milledgeville, was injured early today when his truck crashed into a Chicago and Milwaukee railroad freight train on Rt. 51 two miles south of here.

While Smith escaped serious injury his truck was heavily damaged. He was given treatment by a Mendota physician at the scene of the accident. He blamed fog for the crash.

BOOSTS EISENHOWER—Standing before a huge portrait of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. (R. Mass.) tells a Washington news conference that he has asked Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire to enter the General as a candidate for the presidency on the Republican ticket in the state primary.

Fire Guts 3 Hotels on Boardwalk

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., (AP)—A rampaging, wind-whipped fire wiped out three unoccupied hotels, a block of boardwalk stores and a 300-room section of the big St. Charles hotel on Atlantic City's famed boardwalk today.

The twin-towered, 12-story St. Charles, which was closed for the winter season, still burned at noon and firemen concentrated their efforts to save what remained of the 400-room structure.

There were unofficial estimates that the fire damage might run into several million dollars.

The cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Two 150-room frame hotels near the boardwalk were burned to the ground, another was gutted and nine rooming houses were destroyed.

All of the burned hotels were closed for the winter season.

Allies Doubt Red Sincerity On Armistice

MUNSAN, Korea, (AP)—The United Nations' chief negotiator said today there are growing indications that the Communists do not want a stable armistice in Korea.

Today's report from Panmunjom was the now familiar "no progress."

If the Communists "are acting in good faith and sincerely want peace, there can be no reason for them to construct military airfields during the period of an armistice," said Vice Adm. J. Turner Joy. He flew to Tokyo for conferences with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied commander.

"If, on the other hand, the Communists are acting in bad faith and are, in fact, preparing for war, the construction of military airfields becomes, and is, a matter of great urgency to them," Joy added.

The Reds reiterated their insistence on the right to construct and repair airfields during a brief Monday meeting of the subcommittee on truce supervision.

The session ended abruptly after Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang accused the Allies of "intentionally delaying the negotiations" and trying to wreck the truce talks by insisting on prohibiting construction of military air bases.

Communist delegates again rejected a six-point Allied plan for exchanging prisoners of war and civilians.

Both subcommittees will meet again at 9 p.m. CST Monday.

Admiral Joy told newsmen in Tokyo his conferences with Ridgway would cover only routine matters.

"There is no change in truce negotiations at Panmunjom to prompt this visit," he said.

Toilet Leak Floods Ogle Courthouse

OREGON—An estimated $1,000 damage was caused to the Ogle county courthouse over the weekend when a second story toilet "overflowed" for most of Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Located in back of the courtroom, the toilet leaked through the floor into the office of Homer D. Althouse, circuit clerk, causing damage to the furniture and ceiling, and then into the basement office of County Nurse Helen Stonick, causing damage to many of the records there.

The running water was discovered Sunday morning by a worker who had gone into the building to do some extra work.

Some Relatives Of Mental Cases To Pay for Care

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — Machinery is being set up to charge state mental hospital patients who can pay an estimated $2,000,000 a year for their care.

Fred K. Hoehler, state welfare director, said his department is preparing to make the collections under a new law passed by the 1951 legislature.

Questionnaires will be mailed this week to close relatives of patients in 13 Illinois mental hospitals to ascertain ability of the state wards or their immediate families to pay.

Fifteen to 20 per cent of the 46,000 patients have no close kin listed on state records, Hoehler said. He anticipates at least some contribution for a minimum of 10,000 patients.

All patients will continue to receive equal care and treatment, regardless of whether they or relatives contribute toward the $60 a month it costs the state to keep them.

Information relating to payments will be withheld from hospital employees as a safeguard against discrimination.

Hoehler said relatives who cannot bear a share of expenses and still maintain a reasonable standard of living will not be pressed.

Money received will go into a mental health fund which will be spent on improving the care and treatment of the mentally ill.

Payments will be handled through a new division of reimbursements established in the welfare department. A citizens committee of 11 is being formed to advise on procedures.

No Objection

PARIS, (AP) — Reporters asked Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky for comment today on Gen. Eisenhower's statement saying, in effect, that he is willing to accept a Republican presidential nomination.

"Let him run," said Vishinsky with a chuckle. "I have no objection."

Vishinsky Says Peace Deadlocked

PARIS, (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today the Korean truce talks at Panmunjom have reached a deadlock. He urged a high level security council meeting to help break it.

Vishinsky told the United Nations political committee "We want these negotiations to be concluded successfully and quickly" and said "Let's have a security council meeting, consisting of high-level persons, get together and try to help them."

He said the Soviet proposal would not break up the talks at the front but would merely consider ways of helping get them out of the rut "in which they have been floundering for six months."

135 Arrests Made By Oregon Police During Past Year

OREGON—Oregon's police department, during 1951, made a total of 135 arrests according to a statement issued by the department today.

The breakdown includes: 75 for speeding, 28 for violation of stop signs, three for reckless driving, four for drunken driving, three for driving without a license, one for transporting liquor with a broken seal, seven for drunkenness and 15 for disorderly conduct.

'Flying Enterprise', Skipper 145 Miles From English Port

LONDON — (AP)—Unsinkable Capt. Kurt Carlsen and The Flying Enterprise were halfway to haven today.

At 8 a. m. (2 a. m. CST) the tug Turmoil and the gale-crippled American freighter she is towing were reported 145 miles from the Cornish port of Falmouth. The tug hoped to make port sometime Wednesday.

Carlsen's heroic stand with his near-sinking vessel—which he refused to leave—had started some 300 miles west of the English coast, where The Flying Enterprise almost capsized in the worst Atlantic storm in 50 years.

Flat on Side
The battered Flying Enterprise today was almost flat on her port side, but still "being towed well," the Turmoil's radio operator said in a radio telephone call to the Associated Press. He reported Capt. Carlsen "more confident than ever" that his battered ship would reach a safe harbor.

The wind was rising slightly and there was more of a swell. The Turmoil said she was "swinging from quarter to quarter (varying her course 90 degrees, then back again) because of the change in weather."

May Veer Course
The radio operator said if the weather gets worse, the Turmoil's Capt. Dan Parker will abandon Falmouth as his goal and make for

Stevenson To Be Candidate For Reelection

Invites Best GOP Foe to Insure Good State Government

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson announced today that he is a candidate for reelection.

In a long awaited announcement clearing up his intentions, the Democratic governor said:

Not Important
"I invite the Republican party to nominate the best man it can find."

DIXON IN NEW YORK
Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, of Dixon, was in New York today and could not be reached for comment on his expected candidacy. He is expected to be in Chicago Tuesday and will return to Dixon Tuesday afternoon.

It is of little importance whether the next governor of Illinois is named Adlai Stevenson; but it is of the highest importance that he finish what we have started. No matter then who loses, the people will win.

"That is the kind of election Illinois needs and deserves. I am glad and proudly ready to take part in it."

He said that he "takes great satisfaction in the progress we have made since 1948" when Stevenson launched his four year term as chief executive.

Road Is Long
"But I have learned that the road is long and we have far to go before any of us, myself included, can in good conscience stop and rest," he added.

He said the office of governor "has its heavy burdens."

"But the burdens are also opportunities to give Illinois the kind of government it ought to have."

Stevenson, who will be 52 years old Feb. 5, won his first four year term after eight years of Republican state rule with a record plurality of 572,000 votes in 1948, sweeping into office with him the entire state Democratic ticket.

Reared in Bloomington
Reared in the heart of the state's corn country at Bloomington, Stevenson now lives on a 78-acre farm near Libertyville, Lake county.

Besides Stevenson, the Democratic state ticket is expected to include Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett, State Auditor Benjamin O. Cooper, Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon and Attorney General Ivan A. Elliott, all for reelection.

Illinois Democratic leaders have not yet selected a candidate for the state treasurer nomination.

Candidates for state office will begin filing their primary petitions next Monday.

General Says He Will Heed GOP Summons

Does Not Intend To Actively Seek The Nomination

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower proclaimed himself a Republican today, and made it clear he would accept that party's presidential nomination if it is offered. But he said he won't actively seek it.

In a Paris statement, the 61-year-old general swept away much of the fog of uncertainty that has swirled for the last five years about his place in the picture of presidential possibilities.

His statement was prompted by the weekend move from Senator Lodge (R-Mass) who announced (A) that Eisenhower's name would be entered in the March 11 New Hampshire, presidential primary, and (B) that there would be a "finish fight" to win the GOP nomination for the general.

Eisenhower, who has been talked as both a Democratic and a Republican presidential possibility made these main points in his statement:

1. He said Lodge was correct in calling him a Republican.

2. He has no intention of asking that he be relieved of his present assignment as leader of the European defense forces.

3. He will not take part in pre-convention activities of those seeking the nomination for him.

4. He recognizes the right of others to engage in an attempt "to place before him next July (when the Republican convention meets) a duty that would transcend my present responsibility."

Eisenhower's statement tremendously cheered Republicans who have been working for the nomination and have felt themselves handicapped by the general's long silence.

Some Restive
Some of them were getting restive under the feeling that uncertainty as to Eisenhower's position was letting Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, first to announce as a candidate, get off to a long lead in bidding for support from convention delegates.

The "go ahead" which Eisenhower in effect gave his backers today will let them press their campaign for him with more assurance.

Two other candidates also are formally in the race—Gov. Earl Warren of California and Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and former governor of Minnesota.

Demos Rebuffed
Another practical effect of today's statement was to pull the rug from under those Democrats who have been beating the drums for the nomination of Eisenhower by their party.

One New Hampshire group had planned to enter Ike's name in the Democratic primary.

At the White House, aides said President Truman had no comment on the general's statement.

Eisenhower's name has figured in presidential speculation even since he led the Allies to victory over the Axis power in Europe in 1945.

Lake Michigan Remains at High Level

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A state engineer predicts that stormy Lake Michigan will strike harder blows at its 58-mile Illinois shore line this year than it did in 1951.

Thomas E. Casey, chief state waterway engineer, made the forecast.

He said the lake usually rises in February or March, hits its highest stage in July or August and then recedes until February again.

But, he said, instead of falling the usual amount last October and November the lake remained nearly constant while its sister lakes receded.

Casey said a 1928 failure of the lake to follow the pattern resulted in a record high stage in 1929.

Unless the lake drops fast in the next two or three months and has an unusually small rise next spring, Casey said, he looks for the stages of Lake Michigan to run "substantially" higher this year than last.

Russia Has Christmas Celebration

MOSCOW (AP)—Christmas was celebrated in simple village churches and great cathedrals throughout Russia today, 13 days after Western observances of Christ's birth. The time lag was due to differences between the old Julian calendar used here and the Gregorian calendar of the west.

As deep-throated bells tolled at midnight, Moscow believers flocked to the Yelokhovskaya Sobor, cathedral of the Russian Orthodox church.

White-haired Alexei, Patriarch of Moscow, presided at services in the stately white building. With him was his guest of honor, German Evangelical Pastor Martin Niemöller.

Earlier last night Niemöller, an influential West German religious leader visiting here this week as a guest of church officials, addressed a congregation of 2,000 Russian Baptists at the Moscow Evangelical Baptist church.

At Yelokhovskaya Sobor several thousand persons trudged through the deep snow from all directions and came in street cars, buses, taxis and private cars. They filled the cathedral and overflowed into the street.

Many of the hundreds of thousands of churches that operated before the Russian revolution are closed now, but those still open number into the thousands. They were crowded today for Christmas celebrations in the villages and cities.

There was the Price War, which started in New York and spread to other cities. It left us tired and broke, but we'd had fun and gotten some bargains.

There was MacArthur's return, which gave us a chance to cheer and welcome home a hero. We had parades such as we hadn't had since the end of the war. And there followed a debate which was exciting, no matter which side you were on.

There was plenty of chance for nice juicy gossip. The Tone-Payton-Neal triangle turned into a square, with the public at the fourth corner. There were the gay doings involving Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner, Eleanor and Billy Rose, Shepherd King and Samia Gamal.

And there was the National league pennant race, which made everybody forget their troubles. It brought Frank Merriwellish fame to Bobby Thomson and deep, abiding gloom to the borough Brooklyn.

There was Bill Veerk, who sent a midge up to pinch hit for the St. Louis Browns. There was a no-account horse named Count Turf who won the Kentucky Derby at 15-1. There was Maureen Connolly, a little 16-year-old who won the top U. S. women's tennis crown.

There was Florence Chadwick, who swam the English Channel the hard way, and Bernarr Macfadden, who parachuted into the

Was 1951 Really So Bad?

By RICHARD KLEINER

As the horns blew and the bells rang to welcome 1952, the chances were that at least one person at every New Year's Eve party lifted his glass and proposed the following toast: "Good riddance to 1951!"

And the other guests will chorus their agreement with the general estimation that 1951 was, as years go, a lousy one. They'll remember crime and floods, corruption and higher taxes, cold wars and hot wars and a few in-between wars.

But viewing 1951 objectively, it wasn't any worse than most. The unpleasant happenings were only gloomy polka-dots against a fabric of faith and hope and optimism. There were many good things, in 1951.

The brightest event was the opening of cease-fire talks in Korea. Progress was painfully slow and once came to a full stop—but there was progress. To many people, the best part of the whole deal was that the Communists were the ones to suggest the talks, a development that caused some to look at the future hopefully.

And there was hope of peace on an even broader scale, too. There was talk about disarmament conferences and, although nothing concrete has come of this as yet, the mere words "peace" and "disarmament" made cheerful listening. Perhaps 1951 may prove to have been the turning point on the road so many said led to an inevitable World War III.

If this is so, much of the credit will go to America's production might. There were plenty of bottlenecks. But arms rolled off production lines in increasing quantities, while civilian goods were manufactured in such numbers that few shortages developed.

There was heartening news from Europe, the world's ideological battleground. The Communists lost ground in the French elections. Yugoslavia continued its resistance to the dictates of Moscow, and there were whispers of an upswing of anti-Moscow feeling in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

That the people behind the Iron Curtain were not all happy with their lot was obvious. Americans cheered when two brave Czech railroad men stole a train and sped down the tracks to freedom. Typically America recognized their heroism and offered the two refuge in the U. S., where they will work for a toy railroad manufacturer.

The UN forces in Korea contributed much to the credit side of 1951's ledger. They repulsed two savage Communist offensives and made the words "Iron Curtain" and "Heartbreak Ridge" synonymous with the best in military tradition. In Indo-China, the French more than held their own against the Communists on another of freedom's frontiers.

Elsewhere in the world, the possibility of better days ahead was seen in two nations living under non-democratic regimes. A short, abortive revolt in Argentina showed there might be hope of ousting dictator Juan Peron. And a movement of war veterans developed in South Africa against the discriminatory edicts of Premier Daniel Malan.

The signing of the Japanese peace treaty—which awaits only ratification by the U. S. senate before taking effect—brought to a formal end one of history's bloodiest wars. It produced, too, a cheering picture of the free nations working together in harmony.

In the U. S., the armed forces began production of atomic-powered planes and submarines. So far, use of atomic power is being restricted to these military and naval devices, yet the mere fact that such a tremendous source of energy was being harnessed by man was exciting. The day was not too far off when power from the atom and/or the sun might replace the conventional fuels we know today.

The scientists and engineers were busy in other fields, too. They launched the 51,500-ton liner United States which, when it goes into service next summer, will be the third largest in the world. They opened the New Jersey Turnpike, the latest link in what someday may be a nationwide network of super highways.

They proved they could produce color television broadcasts on a regular schedule, although color has been temporarily side-tracked because of defense production needs. They developed a synthetic fiber, dacron, which did to wool what nylon did to silk. They opened the way for cheap and plentiful production of the drug, cortisone. They produced a new pain-killing drug, dromoran, which, unlike morphine, is not derived from opium.

And the "green medicine"—chlorophyll—which most people had only heard of about a year ago, was on the market in quantity. This material is a natural deodorant, and gives promise of giving us a world wherein nobody smells.

There was the sudden popularity of titania, the "wonder gem," that outsparked diamonds yet cost only about $10 to $16 a carat. And a Chicago scientist wrote about a method of testing the saliva of pregnant women which, in 92 per cent of the cases, determined the sex of the unborn child.

In the arts, there was pleasant activity. We sang songs like "Tennessee Waltz" and "Come on a My House" and "The Thing." And we listened while performers who had been virtually unknown a year ago zoomed into the spotlight. People like Patti Page and Mario Lanza and Dolores Gray.

And there was a new dance, the Mambo, which swept up from South America. Judy Garland came back to the Palace, and all show business hailed the rebirth of two-a-day vaudeville. A new dramatic actress, Audrey Hepburn, heard the applause. Evangelist Billy Graham left a trail of repentant sinners from coast to coast. Comedian Herb Shriver achieved stardom, and Dagmar became a household word.

There was the Price War, which started in New York and spread to other cities. It left us tired and broke, but we'd had fun and gotten some bargains.

There was MacArthur's return, which gave us a chance to cheer and welcome home a hero. We had parades such as we hadn't had since the end of the war. And there followed a debate which was exciting, no matter which side you were on.

There was plenty of chance for nice juicy gossip. The Tone-Payton-Neal triangle turned into a square, with the public at the fourth corner. There were the gay doings involving Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner, Eleanor and Billy Rose, Shepherd King and Samia Gamal.

And there was the National league pennant race, which made everybody forget their troubles. It brought Frank Merriwellish fame to Bobby Thomson and deep, abiding gloom to the borough Brooklyn.

There was Bill Veerk, who sent a midge up to pinch hit for the St. Louis Browns. There was a no-account horse named Count Turf who won the Kentucky Derby at 15-1. There was Maureen Connolly, a little 16-year-old who won the top U. S. women's tennis crown.

There was Florence Chadwick, who swam the English Channel the hard way, and Bernarr Macfadden, who parachuted into the Hudson river at 83, and Dick Kazmaier and King Baudouin and Mike DiSalle and Robert Vogler and Virginia Hill and Greasy Thup Guzik and Rudolph Halley and King Frederick of Denmark who posed in all his tattooed glory.

And there was the quote of the year. It was said by a shapely show girl named Rosemary Williamson. A salesman had been showing her with gifts and it turned out he'd gotten the money for them by swindling.

"I never knew he was in an illegal business," said Rosemary. "He told me he was a gambler."

All in all, 1951 wasn't so bad, was it?

Oregon Woman's Club to Hear County Judge

OREGON—Ogle County Judge Helen Rutkowski will be the principal speaker at the January meeting of the Rochelle Woman's club Friday, Jan. 11.

Judge Rutkowski, is to speak on the subject "Women and Family Property."

Willie Lee Duckworth of Sandersville, Ga., received the award Saturday. He composed the chape during World War II while training at Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

The presentation was made during a program commemorating the birthday anniversary of Carver. The noted Negro scientist was born a slave near Diamond, Mo. His homestead is being made into a national monument.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—An administration decision to keep up the flow of most civilian goods while gradually expanding defense production drew praise from two key senators today.

Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson outlined the "guns-with-butter" approach in his quarterly report on defense production.

Wilson has been under heavy fire from both sides recently.

The senate preparedness subcommittee protested that defense production was far short of its goals and called for tightening the belt on civilian output.

On the other side, the automobile industry and other civilian producers have made vigorous protests against sharp cuts in their supplies of materials being diverted to the defense effort.

Wilson told a news conference that the government had re-examined its entire mobilization policy in light of all criticism and decided again on the gradual type of buildup.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), chairman of the joint congressional economic committee, commented:

"The policy of seeking to organize the world for peace, while building the assembly line for use if war should be thrust on us, is wise."

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, chairman of the commerce committee, said, "I like Wilson's approach to the problem of mobilization but I hope he will cut his 50 billion dollars spending estimate by about 10 billions a year."

Wilson said he consistently has favored a top military outlay of about 50 billion dollars annually. He said he hoped the new government budget would be held to this.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The general idea, of course, in any first class laundry is to see that no shirt or collar ever comes back twice.—Stephen Leacock.

Allies Cannot Tolerate Rebirth of Nazi Spirit

Periodically since the end of World War II, free men of good will have found it necessary to decry evidences of a resurgent Nazism or its nationalistic equivalent in conquered Germany. This is another of those moments.

In the cabinet of the Bonn government as minister of transport is one Hans Christian Seebom. He is the leader of the so-called German party. But he has no rightful place in any government which professes to be reaching for the path of freedom and of alliance with Britain, France and the United States.

A year ago, Seebom declared that only the German army and not the German people had surrendered to the Allies in 1945. What reminiscent ring that has! After Germany's defeat in World War I, the legend was that not the army but the weak, corrupt home front had brought about the Fatherland's downfall.

Whatever reverse twist is put upon this doctrine, its purpose is clear. Its aim is to convince the German nation of its infallibility and invincibility. On this myth, German nationalism feeds.

Now Seebom is making fresh attempts to revivify the spirit that has brought so much destruction to Europe in the 20th century. He recently told a convention of his party that the Nazi era is part of the tradition of Germany's "historical greatness." He urged his audience to salute "all the symbols" under which Germans have died, presumably including the forbidden Nazi swastika. And he was greeted with cheers.

The Allies, shocked by this "arrogant nationalism," have formally protested to the Bonn government. The French hope to see Seebom's removal from the cabinet. As an object lesson to the untold numbers of Germans who plainly feel no contrition for the evils of the Nazi regime, his ouster would be a small but necessary gesture.

The harsh rules of power politics have compelled us to lure the Germans toward the West as friends, newly come democrats and co-defenders of the free world against the Communist menace. Few would have dreamed in 1945 we would not be striving to align our conquered enemy against our then staunch Russian ally.

This startling reversal of political relationships has given the Germans far more leverage than they ever expected to have. It has emboldened them to make strong demands for renewed independence and economic power.

Some of these must rightfully be granted if we are to accept Germany as an equal in the family of free nations. But there is nothing in the tense European situation which compels us to tolerate the rebirth of the tyrannical and morally degenerate Nazism—in any form, by any name.

Herr Seebom should know once and for all that the free world looks with loathing upon the black era he chooses to describe as part of Germany's "greatness." We have not forgotten the horrors of Hitler, and we see no way by which they may be glorified.

Herr Seebom ought to understand, too, that, whatever he and his blackshirted friends may think, the free world will not suffer that kind of Germany to rise again. Evidently we are not making this crystal clear. If we are not, then let the Allied governments do and say the things which will make it so.

Let the Germans grasp that for them tyranny and the dream of conquests are dead. These things lie in the unwholesome dust of the Nazi debacle. There they must stay.

RUTH MILLETT

Be Yourself; Don't Worry Whether Everyone Likes It

"How can you make everybody like you?" a fifteen-year-old wants to know.

The answer, of course, is "You can't."

Nor should you even strive to, for it is an impossible and shallow goal.

You can't be yourself and expect everyone to like you. You can't stand up for your own ideas and principles and expect everybody to like you. You can't be honest, and expect everybody to like you. For after all, you certainly don't like everybody you know.

So forget about making everybody like you. Instead start thinking about what you want to make of yourself, what you want to be and what you want to stand for.

Develop your own talents and abilities. Don't be afraid to be yourself or to express your own opinions. Quit trying to please everybody and concentrate on being the kind of person you, yourself, can approve of.

FRIENDLINESS BEGETS FRIENDS

If you'll do that and treat others with genuine friendliness, you'll have plenty of friends. Not everyone will like you. But that shouldn't matter if you have the liking and respect of the people that you genuinely like and respect.

The young person whose main goal in life is popularity will never amount to very much. For instead of nourishing and developing his own individuality he will tend more and more to cater to other people. He will "yes" their opinions and values, instead of living by his own, and end up with a weak imitation of a couple of guys named Joe.

So start worrying less about what others think of you and more about what you are and what you want to become.

Being liked by others isn't nearly as important as being able to like yourself.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Hollywood's top-three photographers let down their shutters today. They gave me the names of stars who have given them their worst headaches. The names:

Bing Crosby, Wallace Beery, Will Rogers, Jean Arthur, Margaret Sullivan, Greta Garbo and Jennifer Jones.

The movietown photographers were J. B. Scott, known to film royalty as "Scotty" since 1920; Hymie Fink of Photoplay Magazine, who's chalked up 35 years of snapping glamor mugs; and Charlie Rhodes of Motion Picture Magazine, who's been plying the trade for 18 years.

Come earthquakes, cyclones or hailstorms, Scotty, Hymie and Charlie make the rounds of parties, glitter dens and studios to aim their cameras at the movie set.

Sometimes the dispositions of their subjects are worse than the weather outside. Here are some of their comments on Hollywood's intractable, hot-tempered big seven: Charlie: "I never could get a good picture of Margaret Sullivan. She would always put her hands over her face or stick her tongue out at the camera."

Hymie: "Will Rogers would walk away from all photographers. I found out that he would pose if you'd ask Fred Stone to stand beside him. Rogers was Stone's friend and had an idea he was helping him."

BING WAS DISPLEASED

Scotty: "I never bother to take Bing Crosby's picture. One night I spotted him at Ciro's with Dixie. He said, 'Hey, you, scram. Get away from here.' I still snapped the picture."

Wallace Beery also was difficult. Once I tried to photograph him with his adopted daughter, Carol Ann.

"He called me some awful names. I said, 'As far as I'm concerned, Beery, you're still an elephant trainer!'"

Charlie: "Jean Arthur just won't pose for pictures. She sees a camera and starts running."

Hymie: "Once I discovered Garbo at a fashion show. She ran from me and I chased her. I finally found her stretched out face down behind a couch. I didn't have the heart to shoot her that way."

Scotty: "I remember photographing Garbo when she first arrived in Hollywood. She was wearing a sweater and looked like something out of the fields."

"I did a candid layout of her in the early days. She was in a bathing suit."

"Garbo didn't become difficult until the late Harry Edgington, her agent, gave her that I-want-to-be-alone line."

Hymie: "The way to shoot Jean Arthur is to snap her quickly and walk away. You can't let her know what you're doing or she gets difficult."

Scotty: "I snapped Jennifer Jones with David O. Selznick one night at the Mocambo. Selznick wanted me to destroy my plates and we had an argument."

"A little guy sitting nearby turned to me and said, 'That's telling him, Scotty. You need any help, you call me.'"

"Selznick took one look at the guy, turned pale and walked back to his table. The little guy was Bugsy Siegel."

Queens of the Silent Films

"How did the stars of the old silent films stack up with today's crop?" I asked.

Scotty rubbed his bristle-thatched head and said:

"They were queens in the old days and they acted like queens. We never called them by their first names."

"It was always, 'Miss Talmadge, Miss Griffith, Miss Normand.' Today we call them Greer and Lana."

"There wasn't as much written about them." Hymie cut in.

"The intimate side of their lives was never exploited. The stars today are just as glamorous as the old crop. The parties are just as glamorous."

"I was the first photographer to cover Hollywood parties. And you know what? I never saw a wild Hollywood party."

Scotty recalled Lupe Velez' generosity.

"I can still see that $20,000 Dusenbergs car she gave to Gary Cooper."

Hymie remembered Rudolph Valentino:

"He always wore a slave bracelet and used perfume. You could smell Rudy a mile away."

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

Mouth Sores Must Be Diagnosed Before Any Remedy Can Be Offered

Written for NEA Service
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

When one considers that the mouth is exposed to all the irritating substances contained in the air, to many different kinds of foods and drinks, and in many cases to smoking, this part of our body seems remarkably resistant to difficulty, but...

Q—Please discuss the little white sores that come in the mouth. I have one of these after another. Is it true that these sores in the mouth indicate similar sores or ulcers in the stomach? Mrs. G.K.

A—I presume what Mrs. K refers to are canker sores. So far as is known these do not indicate any similar condition in the stomach. There do, however, appear to be several possible causes for canker sores.

Some are considered to be due to low-grade infection, some to allergy, and some possibly to vitamin deficiencies. There is reason to believe that at least some of them are caused by viruses.

Because there are so many various factors involved, it is impossible to suggest a treatment for them without investigating what may be at fault in each individual sufferer.

Q—Please advise the cause and cure for an overflow of saliva in the mouth. Mrs. E.K.

A—Excessive salivation can come from ill fitting dentures, or sensitivity to material contained in them. Some drugs can produce increased salivation.

Inflammation in the mouth or upper part of the breathing tract and neuralgia are additional possible causes.

Excessive salivation can be present in Parkinson's Disease and other conditions of the nervous system.

Irritating foods or drinks may cause salivation. In a few people, the trouble seems to be in their constitutions, and little can be done about this annoying symptom.

Q—My sister has been told she has a horizontal heart. What does this mean? Mrs. N.R.

A—This refers to the position of the heart within the chest cavity, and is not necessarily associated with any disease of the heart itself.

Q—I have been told the new drug, Cortisone, is helpful in cancer. I should like to know if this would help a patient suffering from cancer of the womb? F.J.S.

A—I am sorry to say that it seems unlikely that any method of giving Cortisone known today would be of definite benefit for cancer of the womb.

Q—My husband is almost 45 and recently discovered that he has gallstones. Is there anything that can be done for this besides surgery? Mrs. M.B.D.

A—The only sure way of getting rid of gallstones is to remove them by operation. As yet, no reliable method has been discovered for dissolving them within the gallbladder.

Q—I have been told the new drug, Cortisone, is helpful in cancer. I should like to know if this would help a patient suffering from cancer of the womb? F.J.S.

A—I am sorry to say that it seems unlikely that any method of giving Cortisone known today would be of definite benefit for cancer of the womb.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Tourney Play May Need Over-Bid

In rubber bridge you seldom deliberately overbid against silent opponents. In tournament bridge, however, you sometimes know that you need unusual results to produce a winning score, and in that case you sometimes bid the cards for a little more than they're really worth, trusting to luck and your good right arm to bring the contract home.

Today's hand was of that nature. South knew he didn't belong in a game contract. To begin with, his hand was a slightly doubtful no-trumper. Moreover, his partner raised to only two no-trump, showing that he lacked the strength to bid all the way to game. But South also knew that he needed a better than average result, so he bid the impossible game.

Incidentally, I should point out that North's response of two clubs was the Stayman Convention, asking South to show a major suit if he had one. South showed the hearts, thereby denying that he had biddable spades. Hence North went back to no-trump.

West led the four of diamonds, and South won with the jack. Declarer next cashed the king of diamonds, followed by the ace of hearts, and a low heart towards dummy. West allowed dummy's jack of hearts to win the second round of that suit, but had to take his king when declarer led a third round of hearts.

The contract could be defeated if West ever led clubs, but he had no way of knowing that. It seemed safe to lead the queen of spades, as indeed it was. East, knowing that he needed a club lead from the West hand, should have put up the king of spades to make sure that he would not eventually be stuck in the lead with a high spade. As it happened, East made the fatal error of playing the eight of spades.

South dropped the six of spades.

to make the eight look like an encouraging signal. West therefore continued with the jack of spades. Now declarer took the ace of spades, cashed the last heart to discard the ten of diamonds from dummy, and then put East in with a third spade. East had to lead a club, giving dummy the king of clubs. That card was the entry for the ace of diamonds and the last spade, both of which would have withered on the vine if anybody but East had led clubs.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Holding Lotteries Is Poor Substitute for Cutting Off Worthless Employees

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PARIS—New York City council voted overwhelmingly in favor of a referendum on a proposal to establish a state lottery to raise about $300,000,000 additional yearly of which there is said to be a desperate need for hospitals and other municipal works. The experience of European countries inspires no respect for this. Whatever their profits from such tawdry works which arouse little public interest the fact that only nations already busted or going bust resort to lotteries that never relieve their poverty perpetually should have an advisory value to Americans.

A resort to a lottery run as a substitute for taxation is evidence that the politicians have failed in their job of civic management and that some of them prefer the painless bleeding of people to the painful duty of cutting parasites off payrolls and increasing the working hours of legitimate public employees and raising subway fares and the cost of other public services for value received. Others equally guilty of this failure abhor the immorality of a lottery, but their alternative is postponement of repudiation, or higher taxes or new ones.

Governor Dewey observed, regarding the rival rapacities of federal and state income taxes including admittedly unjust takings by the state from helpless minorities such as interstate commuters, that this process has become dangerous. The nation and the state regard the citizen not as a sovereign but as a serf producing earnings for the maintenance of an arrogant, extravagant bureaucracy and the citizen is afraid to murmur lest some trained shyster discover unsuspected past technical defaults and impose penalties which compound interest plus threats of prison.

There would be no need for a lottery if the political divisions would simply return to six eight-hour days a week and straight time for overtime and holidays. The economy thus achieved in a city with New York's terrible overload in wages might not raise the hundreds of millions which are said to be needed but would reduce the city's labor cost at least one-fourth and revoke the existing belief that an employee on the public payroll has a vested right to uninterrupted support from the date of his hiring to his retirement in the prime of life on a pension far exceeding the most optimistic hopes of the millions who maintain this system.

One trouble in Britain has been that workers under unionism become skilled loafers, and the basic principles of our unionism exemplified by all government authorities reliant on union endorsements include the fanatical support of the completely false dogma that God ordained a five-day, forty-hour week whereof a minimum of six hours is spent pawing over candy bars on the hokey-pokey counter, making time with the female help and washing up before the whistle blows.

The timid suggestion that we legalize chains of off-track parimutuel booths and some equivalent of the British football pools has the merits of public accommodation, decency and substantial profit to the city or state but is invariably put forth with an apology on the assumption that these gambles would prove too popular. Yet in both these ventures the state stands back in a status of dignity and superiority as the licensing and supervising authority. We license saloons and package stores without accepting guilt in parental delinquency or sudden death on highways, and the federal government flagrantly sells licenses to bookmakers whose activities are criminal in all states except Nevada.

It is a petty question whether this makes the United States government a partner in crimes, because that partnership was frankly admitted many years ago in debates on income taxes and solidly avowed in provisions taxing at regular rates incomes of bootleggers, all manner of thieves, dealers in narcotics, and even, as it turned out in specific cases, prostitutes. The British attitude toward the football pools is one of those vagaries of theirs which on close examination makes our hypocritical desirability to risk from one shilling to a pound or two weekly on guessing the games. A small group of solid business firms run vast offices wherein all such bets are recorded by staffs of thousands of employees and calculations of odds and selections of winners are done under formal contract by firms of accountants. The client is always

To an American the sign on Hill's in Piccadilly Circus, the home of a great bookmaking house, is strangely stirring. Thus five-story advertisement, blazing with the serene virtue of an ad for cigarettes, cosmetics or gin, proclaims that Hill's is Britain's bookmaker and any cop who tried to shake them down would be pinched by Scotland Yard.

Hovering darkly over all seductive speculations, however, is the rugged uncompromising fact that after all state, political, and legislative problems have been adusted, we would still have to conquer the federal postal law adopted to outlaw the Louisiana lottery. It is simply but, effectively forbids the interstate mailing of any evidence of a wager including a policy slip or lottery ticket and beyond that supplementary verbiage including one on interstate shipment by express. But there is no law against dreaming.

Two Mt. Morris Weddings Feature Holiday Season

MT. MORRIS — Shirley Ann Stouffer and Donald Day were married Friday evening in the James Fleming home, Mt. Morris, in a Christmas decorated ceremony performed by the Rev. Nelson Rittenhouse.

The ceremony was a double ring one in the presence of the members of the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stouffer and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nellie Day, Watseka. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Surand, Oregon.

The bride wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Surand chose a dress of winter white also with black accessories. A reception in the Fleming home followed, at which Mrs. James Rouse and Mrs. Even Scheifelbein, aunt of the bride, served.

The new Mrs. Day graduated from Mt. Morris high school in 1951 and is employed at Kable News company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Gilman high school and works on the night shift in the bindery at Kable Printing company.

MT. MORRIS — Miss Wilma La Verne Coble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verdie A. Coble, 101 Grande ave., Flora, and Cpl. Roy Hongsermeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hongsermeier sr., Hometown, Ill., were married Dec. 20 at 8 p. m. at the Presbyterian church in Flora.

The Rev. F. D. McMartin, pastor, performed the ceremony. A reception followed in the church parlors.

The bride was graduated from Flora high school in 1950 and since November, 1950, has been employed by the Public Service Co., in Dixon.

Hongsermeier is a graduate of Mt. Morris high school and has completed a year at the Galesburg extension of the University of Illinois. He is now in administrative work at Offutt AFB, Omaha, Neb., where the newlyweds will live after Feb. 1.

The wedding was held in a surrounding of holiday poinsettias, greenery and lighted candelabras.

Keep your jewelry in a covered case so air won't dull or tarnish the finish.

Word has been received from newlyweds, the Loren Munsons, that they are at home in Brockton, Mass. Loren who is stationed near Brockton with the navy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Munson, Dixon, and his bride is the former Joanne Weltzel, daughter of the John Weltzels, Dixon. Attendees at their wedding ceremony in Dixon are pictured above. The MATURE PARENT TO SELL YOUR CHILDREN THE VALUE OF HONESTY YOU NEED A SELF-EXAMINATION

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A father writes me that he finds it impractical to give moral training to his children because they know the facts on crime and political corruption.

"They see moral law flouted on every side," he says. "They read the newspapers. What good is this moral training you write about when youngsters read about the profits stashed away by dishonest officials and gang bosses?"

I am quoting this point of view because I have heard it expressed many times by other parents.

Why should Johnny decide to stop telling the truth because a politician lies to his government about his income?

Why should Mary take money from our purse without permission because a gang boss keeps a big house in Florida?

Why should Mary and Johnny want secret bank accounts and Florida beach houses? Aren't they happy telling us the truth and showing respect for what the money in the purses represents?

Of course, if they have not experienced pleasure in telling the truth, if they have not been praised for their consideration of the money in the pocketbook, I can understand how the profits of the corrupt official and the gang lord might impress them.

If, however, they have been given intelligent moral education, I doubt very much if the profits would impress them to the extent of their wanting to be corrupt themselves.

If Johnny has discovered what a liberating experience truth-telling can be, he would not dream of exchanging it for the tense, self-hating torment of the poor, harassed official with the secret bank account.

PROFITS OF LIES AND DISHONESTY AREN'T PROFITS

To children who find joy in truthfulness and honesty, to youngsters who, loving themselves, are learning to extend this love to others, the profits of lies and dishonesty are not profits.

The fact is, our fear that they may be corrupted by sensational revelations of profitable crime and political skulduggery is a little suspicious. We should consider the possibility that we are the people who are over-impressed.

Our over-heated indignation at the ill-gotten gains suggests that we are not finding much profit in our own moral obedience. It suggests that we would like to have a secret nest-egg of our own and that we are jealous and angry that our good behavior has not produced for us what bad behavior has produced for others.

If this is so, and we really feel that the rewards of our moral obedience are insufficient, we have terribly important growing up to do. The sooner we get at it, the better for the children.

Car Breakins Resume Here

The apparent resumption of Dixon's minor crime wave was seen by police who investigated two more car breakins Sunday. Three other autos were entered Friday night and their glove compartments ransacked but nothing taken.

Clarence Hackbarth, 613 Douglas av., reported Sunday morning that someone rifled the glove compartment of his car sometimes Saturday afternoon or evening. He reported the theft of a flashlight and screwdriver. The car was parked in the 100 block of E Commercial alley when the burglary occurred between the hours of 5 p.m. Saturday and 12.30 a.m. Sunday.

Marvin Cullen, 1301 Woodlawn auto wheel, tube and tire were taken from the trunk of his car while it was parked in a lot in the 200 block of Highland avenue between 3 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

Dixon Woman Asks Divorce

Mrs. Ethel May Johnson, Dixon, filed a divorce complaint Saturday with Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis charging LaVerne M. Johnson with extreme cruelty.

The couple was married June 18, 1949, in Dixon and lived together until Dec. 22, 1951, according to the complaint. They have one child. Mrs. Johnson asks custody of the child, support, attorney's fees and court costs. She asks that a guardian ad litem be appointed for her husband who is a minor. Dixon, Bales and Gunner represent the wife.

Vacationists Refused State Jobless Pay

CHICAGO, (AP) — The state has rejected some 245 unemployment compensation application claims filed by Illinoisans now living in resort areas outside the state.

Samuel C. Bernstein, state commissioner of unemployment compensation, said Saturday the disallowed claims were filed last month by former Illinois workers now in Arizona, California and Florida.

The state law, he said, provides that an individual may not collect benefits if he seeks a job in a locality where employment opportunities are less favorable than the area he has left.

Benefit payments in the state range from $10 to $25 weekly. The payments are based on the amount of earnings during 1950 in jobs covered by state law.

Dixon Potato Problem Is One of Price

Dixon's potato problem is getting bigger and bigger. While not as high as the nation's average, the price is continuing on the up grade.

In a survey of several Dixon grocery stores by The Evening Telegraph the price, on the average, has been boosted approximately 70 cents on one hundred pounds during the last month.

Dec. 5, the potato price stood at $5.15 for 100 pounds to the grocer. Today it is $5.85. The ceiling, which is to go into effect Jan. 19, would bring about a slight rollback and then stabilization of the price.

Until then, however, the local grocers fear that the price will continue skyrocketing. During 1951, the total price increase was more than $1 a bushel.

Over the counter potatoes now sell for about $1 a peck (15 pounds) in Dixon.

Issue Licenses

Two marriage licenses were issued Saturday by County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock. Applicants were George N. Crawford, 52, and Miss Jane Vest, 33, both Dixon, and Robert N. Dennison, 23, Dixon, and Miss Fern A. Haupt, 17, Polo.

"REAL PEOPLE" — North Carolina's Cherokee Indians do not know what the name of their tribe means. They call themselves "Ani-Yunwiwe" or "real people."

STERLING COINS — In the United States, sterling silver is 92.5 per cent silver and 7.5 per cent copper, which is the same proportion as that used in British coinage.

NBAs' Eastern Division Tied

By The AP

The Eastern division of the National Basketball association couldn't be any tighter with the Boston Celtics and the Syracuse Nats deadlocked for first place today, each with 19 victories and 12 defeats.

The Celtics won two games over the weekend and Syracuse one to create the tie. Boston first beat Baltimore Saturday night and then turned back the pace setting Rochester Royals of the Western division 91-80 last night. Syracuse's triumph was a 95-93 decision over Philadelphia's Warriors last night.

Meantime, the race for the Western division title became closer as Minneapolis' Lakers picked up two victories while Rochester was splitting. The Lakers measured Indianapolis Saturday and then knocked off the New York Knicks' 107-72 last night for their greatest scoring spurge of the season. Jim Pollard led the scoring with 32 and George Mikan added 25 more. Rochester beat Philadelphia Saturday.

Frankie Brian, who poured 23 points through the hoop led the Fort Wayne Pistons to a 79-75 verdict over the Indianapolis Olympians. Sixteen of them came on free throws.

New Man Helps Rangers Win

By The AP

Jack (Elbows) Stoddard, tallest forward in the National Hockey league is beginning to pay off on an estimated $30,000 investment by the surging New York Rangers.

Stoddard, imported recently from Providence of the American league for players valued in the neighborhood of $10,000, scored the first goal of his big league career last night to give the Rangers a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks.

The six-foot three-inch right winger scored in the third period to break a 2-2 tie and climax an uphill battle that saw the Rangers wipe out a 2-0 deficit.

The triumph enabled the Rangers to extend their fourth place margin over the Boston Bruins to three points. The Bruins dropped a 4-2 decision to the league-leading Red Wings in Detroit.

OLD HURLER DIES

DECATUR, (AP) — One of the Three I league's famous old-time southpaw pitchers, John (Happy Jack) Kitzelick, died yesterday of heart disease. The 58-year-old Decatur resident was employed as a painting contractor. The funeral will be tomorrow.

Golf's Old Pros Will Get Test

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A test of golf's old-times against its young upstarts was in prospect today as the $17,500 Los Angeles open golf tournament headed into the finish.

Golf's veterans include such names as Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Dutch Harrison, Lawson Little, Johnny Bulla, Vic Ghezzi, Ellsworth Vines, Hogan and Snead, however, passed up this tournament.

The younger generation numbers scores, but formed the bulk of the top contenders today for the $4,000 first prize.

Setting the pace is Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., making the winter tour on his honeymoon. Kroll topped 80 others at the 54 hole stage with 214.

After the game, which the North team won 20-6, J. Finely McRae, Senior Bowl president, said that success was assured and then some.

The "then some" he referred to was net profit, 20 per cent of which will be divided among the 50 college players who put on the big show in Ladd stadium Saturday.

Members of the winning North team were given $500 each and South team members received $400. The take from net profits, not yet known, will be pure pot sweetening.

The turnout for the third Senior Bowl was 20,236, including about 19,500 paid admissions. This represented an increase of nearly 7,000 over last January's game and a substantial increase over the first Senior Bowl game played in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1950.

General Says He Will Heed GOP Summons

President booms in both major parties in 1948, despite his disavowal of political ambitions.

A year after the election of President Truman the talk of Ike for the White House in 1952 started again.

No Authorization — But even yesterday Lodge, when saying Eisenhower's name would be entered in the GOP New Hampshire primary, conceded he had no direct authorization from the general to take that step.

Apparently, however, Lodge had reason to expect some statement from Eisenhower. But the 22-hour wait, before the statement actually was issued, seemingly was longer than the senator anticipated.

Lodge, national chairman of the GOP Eisenhower - For - President movement, told a news conference that Eisenhower's press aides would be ready for his announcement, and invited reporters to "check that in Paris."

Delayed Statement — Efforts to do so were fruitless. Col. Harry Connelly, the general's chief information officer, finally said after repeated calls by newsmen that despite Lodge's suggestion, there would be no immediate statement.

This initial silence, plus the fact that Lodge produced only verbal assurances Eisenhower is a Republican and available as a candidate, left the general's political status somewhat up in the air in the minds of many politicians.

Roderick McKaye, leader of Democrats-For-Eisenhower in New Hampshire, said he was going ahead with his plans to enter the general's name on the Democratic ticket "regardless of Lodge's statement."

Dayton D. McKean, chairman of the Democratic committee in the same state, said this could be done and might bring things to a head. He said if both parties filed Eisenhower's name in the New Hampshire primary, the general would have to repudiate one party within 10 days.

Lodge, however, said New Hampshire Democrats cannot enter Eisenhower as a candidate because "Gen. Eisenhower has personally assured me he is a Republican."

Taft Declines Statement — New Hampshire voters, whether Democrat or Republican, who nominate Eisenhower would have to certify him as a member of their party.

Senator Taft of Ohio, an active candidate for the GOP nomination, declined comment in Cincinnati on Lodge's announcement but indicated he might have something to say here later in the day.

Harold E. Stassen, another announced candidate for the Republican nomination, said he is making no statements as to Eisenhower's party affiliation or availability.

Oregon Farm Hand Held For Forgery

OREGON — An Oregon farm hand was arrested today by Ogle County Chief Deputy Joseph Powell on a charge of forging two checks totaling $185 with the name of his former employer, Oliva Slade Ross.

Frank Potter, 47, was arrested upon the discovery of the second check, cashed Jan. 3, for $85. On Sept. 24 he had cashed one for $100 at the Oregon Kroger store. The checks had gone undiscovered until Jan. 2 when Miss Ross picked up her cancelled checks at an Oregon bank. She had called for them for several months and, upon seeing the forged check, notified bank officials, who in turn told Powell.

Bound Over to Jury — The checks were made out payable to Lyle Livermore and signed with the signature of Miss Ross. Immediately following the uncovering of the first check, the second forgery was turned in at the bank—this one cashed at a Piggly Wiggly store in Oregon.

Potter formerly worked for Miss Ross and is now employed on a farm five miles east of Oregon. He was bound over to the Ogle county grand jury which meets today.

Fight Goes on Over Where to Bury Negro GI

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — The case of a negro soldier killed in Korea, whose body has lain in a Phoenix mortuary five weeks awaiting clearance on a burial site, appeared no nearer solution today.

The question of whether to abolish regulations that have prevented his interment in a veterans plot at Greenwood Memorial park is entirely in the hands of the cemetery's board of trustees.

Franklin G. Hannah, board chairman, said it would be at least a "few days" before he could summon the group.

The unborn soldier is Pfc. Thomas C. Reed, 19, who died in front-line fighting June 3. His body was returned to a local mortuary Nov. 28 and has been held there since.

George C. Reed, the boy's father, said that his son be buried in the veterans plot at the cemetery. But he objected to following the procedure set up by the cemetery board.

The trustees required that letters of request be filed by three local veterans organizations. Four other negro soldiers have been buried under this plan.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and American Legion have now asked the cemetery board to accept negro veteran burials in the plot on the request of next of kin.

The cemetery is owned by Arizona Lodge No. 2, Free and Accepted Masons.

Coast Guard Pay Clerk Vanishes; $45,000 Gone Too

AUGUSTA, Ga. — (AP) — A Coast Guard pay clerk and more than $45,000 are missing from nearby Camp Gordon.

The pay clerk, Ernest L. Whetzel, Jr., 36, was the only person who knew the combination to the safe in which the money was kept. He has been missing since Thursday, but officials did not learn until yesterday how much money was gone.

The safe could not be opened until the arrival of Lt. Comdr. G. Southern, inspector of the Coast Guard in New Orleans. A locksmith opened the safe before Southern, FBI agents and representatives of the army's criminal investigation division, the Coast Guard and the comptroller general's office.

The FBI said Whetzel, a veteran of 14 years service, would be charged with embezzlement.

Physician, Three Children Believed Air Crash Victims

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Dr. George Thill and three of his four children are believed to have perished when Dr. Thill's plane crashed in Lake Michigan Saturday night.

They were en route home after a family vacation in Florida.

Wreckage of the plane including a log book bearing the 46-year-old physician's signature were found by a Coast Guard cutter 15 miles southeast of Milwaukee yesterday. No bodies were recovered.

Mrs. Thill and her daughter Nancy, 16, were believed returning from Florida by automobile. Relatives here said Nancy disliked flying.

Authorities said information from persons along the route of Dr. Thill's flight indicated the three children who died with their father were Lois, 18; James, 14, and Mary Beth, 11.

Kills Self After Murdering Widow

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — An ex-divinity student sought for shooting a pretty widow apparently killed himself shortly after pumping four bullets into the woman, police said today.

Discovery of the body of Joseph K. Edwards, 32, of Pittsburgh, on a trash-littered bank of the Schuylkill river in West Philadelphia last night ended a two-day hunt by police of 14 states.

Edwards was sought in connection with the wounding of Mrs. Suzanna Reid, of Houston, Tex., in her dormitory room Saturday night. She was a student at the Philadelphia divinity school of the Protestant Episcopal church. She described Edwards as an "old boy friend."

Edwards was a former student in the same school.

JUDGE DISAPPEARS
TRENTON, TENN. — (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Lyle Cherry packed his bags last Thursday mailed hasty letters of resignation—and disappeared.

It was learned last night that the 45-year-old jurist hadn't been seen or heard from by his family or friends since Friday, when he stopped off to see his brother in Memphis.

His attractive 37-year-old brunette wife said Cherry disappeared "without saying a word to me about it" and knew of no reason why he should "walk out."

U. S. Planes Shoot Down Seven Jets

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — Flashing U. S. jet planes destroyed seven Russian-built MIG-15 jets and damaged 12 in two days of renewed furious air fighting high over northwest Korea.

U. S. Sabres shot down two MIGs and damaged two on Monday. The day before, U. S. planes blasted five of the Red jets to earth and scored hits on 10.

U. S. losses, if any, were not reported. Under a new policy the U. S. air force will announce any losses only once a week.

Allied ground forces on the western front fought fiercely in sub-freezing weather toward a prize outpost lost to the Reds Dec. 28.

United Nations infantrymen made slight gain against stubborn Chinese resistance early Monday after hurling back two Red thrusts Sunday. The outpost is west of Korangpo and only about six miles from Panmunjom—site of the deadlocked armistice talks.

At sea, Allied warships maintained their tight blockade of both the east and west Korean coasts. Carrier planes hammered Communist coastal supply routes and cut east-west rail routes in 109 places.

The U. S. navy announced Sunday that its ships and planes in 1951 destroyed or damaged 7,028 railwaycars or locomotives, 4,519 Communist motor vehicles, 2,379 bridges and cut rail lines 4,674 times.

In Monday's air battle, 22 Sabre jets clashed with more than 50 Communist MIGs. It was the fifth dogfight in the two days.

Gypsy Wedding Unites Pair Of 'Unknowns'

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — The 15-year-old bride was shy and tearful after all, she had never seen the groom before—but she was faultlessly dressed for the big moment in her life.

It was the royal gypsy wedding of the son of Mike Davis, "King" of some 200 Romanian tribesmen in Florida.

After the brief ceremony, the bride retired to the semi-seclusion of a trailer awning while the groom joined other teenagers at a blaring juke box and apparently forgot about the whole thing.

The marriage between John Davis, 16, and pretty, bespangled Katherine Johnson of Baltimore, was arranged by their fathers more than 10 years ago.

Gypsy custom, said the bride's father, demands that the bargain be carried out.

Gypsies, says King Davis, believe "blind" marriages are best. In any case, there is no divorce. When a marriage fails, husband and wife return to the homes of their parents and cannot wed again within the tribe.

Prison for Bribers Also Suggested by Oklahoma Solon

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Monroney (D-Okla.), saying "you can't take a bribe unless a crook pays it," announced he is broadening his anti-corruption bill to provide mandatory prison terms for both givers and takers of bribes.

"We have plenty of prisons for both," he said. "The smell of scandals involving tax deals, government loans and some other operations of the government indicates it's time we used them to house both."

Monroney told a reporter he expects White House backing for at least parts of his bill, and has promises of bi-partisan support for it among congress members.

MAJOR CAUSE OF OIL BURNER SERVICE CALLS NOW ELIMINATED!

MOST IMPORTANT FUEL OIL DEVELOPMENT IN 15 YEARS—

NEW SHELL FUEL OIL WITH

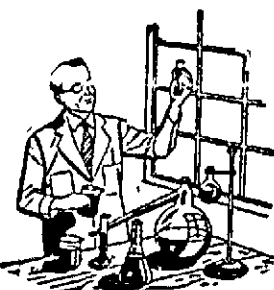

FOA-5X

Good news for you this winter! New Shell Fuel Oil contains a unique ingredient FOA-5X, especially developed to keep filter screens clean during the entire heating season. Clogged filter screens have long been recognized as a major cause of oil burner service calls.

FOA-5X
Keeps Filter
Screens Clean

Because of the anti-clogging property of FOA-5X, Shell Fuel Oil for home heating cleans as it heats.

Shell Scientists

Dukes Fall in Final Half on Saturday Night

Local Team Again Shows Improvement Despite Defeat

By HUGH HOUGH
(Telegraph Sports Editor)
ROCK FALLS—Two upsets in two nights was too much to expect anyway. That's what Dixon basketball fans said here Saturday night after watching their Dukes lose to the very capable Rock Falls club, 46 to 30, in a non-conference test.

In an earlier game between the two teams played in mid-December, the Rockets won, 72 to 41, on the Dixon floor.

Game Was Closer

Actually, Saturday's Dixon-Rock Falls contest was closer than the final score might indicate. At the end of the third quarter Dixon trailed only 20-26 and the more optimistic Dixon fans still had hopes that the Dukes might give a repeat performance of Friday's upset of Rochelle.

But the Rockets extended their lead soon after the fourth quarter started and then won easily as Dixon fouled frequently in an effort to gain control of the ball.

Dukes Improve

Once again Dixon showed a generally improved style of basketball. The Dukes led during much of the first quarter, finally trailing by 10-11 at its end.

Near the end of the second quarter Rock Falls, leading by only six points, unaccountably went into a semi-stall.

The Rockets resumed their ball-control game in the third quarter, a slow period in which the Dukes outscored them 4 to 3.

Rockets Flare

In the final quarter the Dukes were outscored 20 to 10 as Rock Falls converted a flock of free throws and several easy field goal attempts at the expense of the rushing Dixon team.

The Rockets' Cliff Sands led both teams in scoring with 14 points on four baskets and six free throws. For the second successive night Jim Gorman was high for Dixon. This time he counted seven points on three baskets and a free throw.

Mihm Scores 32 to Help Amboy Win

Milledgeville Watches Center Set New Mark

AMBOY—(Special)—With large Bill Mihm drilling 32 points into the still-new nets here Saturday night, Amboy trounced Milledgeville, 70 to 60, in a basketball game postponed from November.

Mihm's 32 points represented a scoring record for the new Amboy gymnasium. The 6-5 Clipper center made 14 baskets and four free throws.

"He wasn't just tipping them in, either," Coach Orval Spurlin said after the game. "He was driving under the basket for many of his field goals."

Clippers Lead Early

Amboy lost no time in jumping off to a big lead in the first half. The Clippers piled up 40 points before intermission time to lead, 40-27, in the free-scoring game.

Milledgeville's Ritnour, a sharp-shooting guard, kept the Amboy zone puzzled with his shots from outside. He kept Milledgeville within a respectable distance of the Clippers with 13 baskets on such shots for 26 points.

Score New Team High

The 70 points scored by Amboy in this game also mark a new high team total for the new gym. The Clippers make their third home appearance this season on Tuesday when they entertain Princeton.

In the preliminary game, Coach Nick Milosevich's Amboy frosh-soph team defeated Milledgeville, 41 to 27. Ron Shippert led scoring in this game with 14 points.

Rock Falls Frosh-Sophs Top Frigid Dixon by 28-22 Score

ROCK FALLS—In their most impotent offensive display of the season, the Dixon frosh-soph basketball boys accepted a 28 to 22 defeat in the preliminary game with Rock Falls here Saturday night.

In every quarter but the third, when they managed 11 points, the Dixon shooters were colder than any basketball team is supposed to be at this stage of the season.

Despite their poor aim, Dixon made a close game of it until the middle of the fourth quarter. After trailing 16-7 at halftime, the locals outscored Rock Falls 11-6 in the third quarter to bring the score to 22-18, but in the last quarter Dixon faded to a mere four points again and saw the game slip away.

Although he missed a great number of good shots, Karl Olson, the 6-3 Dixon center, led in scoring with seven points.

Hebron Just Keeps Rolling

Green Giants Look Tougher Each Week

SPRINGFIELD—(AP)—Little Hebron, a surprise favorite in the Illinois prep basketball title race, looks tougher and tougher as the campaign wears on.

Exactly half way through their regular season schedule, Hebron's Green Giants counted 12 victories untainted by even a close brush with defeat. Few remaining foes appeared capable of pulling an upset.

The skillful McHenry county lads from a town of 650 population were breezing along with a 63-point game scoring average. Powerful Danville and Oak Park, a weekend victim, represented their latest conquests.

Pitfalls Many

But plenty of pitfalls could open up unexpectedly for Hebron or any other widely acclaimed title contender, as witness what befell Mt. Vernon and Elgin over the weekend, not to mention Quincy and LaGrange.

Mt. Vernon, undefeated and possessor of an even dozen triumphs, was rudely jolted by West Frankfort and then Collinsville. The Rams dropped a 72-62 decision to Collinsville Saturday.

Quincy Loses Again

In a slowdown contest at East St. Louis, Quincy bowed 32-26 for its second setback in the last three games. An easy verdict Friday over Canton provided little solace for the Westerners.

LaGrange fell 56-50 before an improving Moline outfit that shows signs of challenging Rock Island for Northwestern supremacy.

In their only appearance, the Rocks chalked up a lopsided 74-36 decision over Sterling.

Other highly regarded clubs that found single weekend opponents to their liking included West Rockford, 66-48 conqueror of West

Patrick Kills a Rumor...

FRANKLIN GROVE—(Special)—Coach Max Patrick would like to stop a rumor.

Ever since the Franklin Grove high school burned down shortly before Christmas, he's been hearing that his Franklin Grove team wouldn't be playing any more home basketball games this season.

The rumor started because classes are being held in the gym, which was unharmed by the fire.

"The rumor just isn't so," Patrick said today.

"We have a hard time practicing—we only use half the floor—but we will clear the gym for our home games," he said.

Patrick, whose team has won seven out of eight games, is quite concerned about the lack of practice space.

"We like to run," he said, "and half a gym doesn't give us much chance."

Illinois Dumps Gophers, 52-43, In Big Ten Basketball Opener

CHICAGO—(AP)—The big three of the Big Ten—Illinois, Indiana and Iowa—still enjoy undefeated basketball records for the season, but danger lurks on this week's nine-game conference program.

Either Indiana or Iowa is certain to be toppled from the nation's dwindling unbeaten ranks, for Saturday's schedule sends the two powers against each other at Iowa City.

Feature Attraction

This is the feature attraction of early firing in the Big Ten title race which opened last Saturday with Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Purdue and Northwestern gaining first round victories.

Illinois should find the going comparatively smooth this week and add to its string which now

Franklin Grove Wins, 53-31, Over Malden

MALDEN—(Special)—Franklin Grove's high school basketball team won its seventh victory in eight starts Saturday night with a 53 to 31 decision over Malden.

Larry McMillion helped put Coach Max Patrick's team in the win column again with 21 points on 10 baskets and a free throw.

He started Franklin Grove on its way after a listless first quarter that saw Malden take a 7-5 lead.

Franklin Grove gained momentum after the first period, however, and scored 37 points in the two middle periods to lead 42 to 18 at the end of the third quarter.

After that, Patrick gave his reserves to play some basketball.

In the preliminary game, Franklin Grove also won, this time by a 32 to 15 score.

has stretched to eight wins. Wisconsin invades Illinois tonight while Indiana is at Ohio State, Iowa at Michigan and Northwestern at Michigan State.

In addition to the Indiana-Iowa showdown Saturday, Illinois travels to Michigan, Michigan State to Minnesota, Purdue to Northwestern and Ohio State to Wisconsin.

Purdue Balanced

Purdue, one of the most improved teams in the circuit displayed a withering balance of scoring power last Saturday in burying Wisconsin at Madison 75-64. Jamming in points for the Boilermakers were sophomore Ernie Hall with 23, Carl McNulty with 17, John Dermody with 16 and Fred Server with 15. About the only attack Wisconsin could muster was the 24-point sharpshooting of veteran guard, Ab Nichols.

Iowa had the hardest time maintaining its perfect record. The Hawkeyes had to knock off previously unbeaten Michigan State. They did it 61-60 as Chuck Darling rammed in 20 points and Chuck Jarnagin, a substitute forward, added seven in a third period push that gave Iowa a 48-41 lead.

Hoosiers Win

Indiana downed Michigan, 58-46, but the Wolverines twice tied the score in the third quarter. Michigan's Jim Skala won honors with 20 points while sophomore Bob Leonard topped Indiana with 18.

Illinois' defense held Minnesota's lanky Ed Kalafat, an 18-point average shooter, to one basket in defeating the Gophers, 52-43. Rod Fletcher and Bob Peterson combine for 26 points to fire the Illini attack.

Other games this week include Milwaukee teachers at DePaul tonight; Butler at Notre Dame and Bradley at St. Louis tomorrow; Loyola of Chicago vs. St. Johns in Madison Square Garden Thursday; Fort Leonard Wood at DePaul Friday; and Loyola at Bowling Green and Notre Dame at Marquette Saturday.

Views of SPORTS

IBY HUGH H HUGH

Today, kiddies, let's hold a short seminar on basketball strategy. Let's ask a couple of questions about the strategy used during the past week by Dolph Stanley of Beloit and by Elwin Duhm of Rock Falls.

WE ARE ON safe ground in asking these questions. We can't be accused of second-guessing because these coaches were winning coaches in both of the games up for discussion.

At Rock Falls Saturday night, Dixon was trailing Duhm's Rockets by some seven points towards the end of the first half. At this point Duhm sent his team into a semi-stall. The Rockets made little effort to score; they waited for Dixon to come after the ball.

DURING THE ENTIRE third quarter Rock Falls played the same type of game. At the end of this period Rock Falls held a six-point lead. Had the Dixon boys been successful on a couple of good shots they missed in this period, the difference could have been a mere two points at the end of this quarter.

Why did Duhm use this strategy? Admittedly, he has one of the best running basketball teams in Northern Illinois. Here in Dixon the Rockets literally ran the basketball trousers off our Dukes when the two teams played in December. And they were showing signs of doing the same thing—on a smaller scale—when Duhm slowed his boys to a walk in that second quarter.

IT MIGHT HAVE cost the Rockets the game. This was exactly the style of play that Coach Lon Scofield hoped Rock Falls would use. Dixon was using a deliberate game in an effort to slow down the Rockets. The Dukes weren't being too successful in this strategy in the second quarter. Then the Rockets suddenly slowed down of their own accord.

In regard to Stanley's Beloit team, again we must confess bewilderment (nothing unusual, our critics say) at the slow-down strategy Beloit used against Washington University of St. Louis last week.

BELOIT, ONE of the better running teams in the Midwest gained a squeaky, 24-21, victory and a lot of hard feelings by using such strategy in St. Louis. And, incidentally, Stanley took a big chance of seeing his team's string of victories snapped.

The St. Louis public didn't like this type of play. Stanley said after the game he didn't much care what the public liked—he would play any style of basketball he wished. This statement, hastily made, was hastily amended the next day by Mr. Stanley. In effect he said, "yes, I do care what the public likes."

AGAIN, WHY DID these coaches use such strategy at the risk of losing basketball games? Well, we can't give you the answer, but we have an opinion and here it is:

Most basketball coaches, before the public a great deal, are capable showmen. Nothing makes them quite so happy as a chance to depart a bit from the usual routine. Possibly they think such seemingly needless changes in strategy reflect their knowledge of the game. They may think the gamble involved is worth taking in exchange for the notice they will receive. If so, we compliment them on their daring. But if such tactics, ever backfire, we recommend that these coaches find themselves a good hideaway from the fans.

MR. DUHM, ESPECIALLY, might do well to study the stormy past of the basketball coaching situation in Rock Falls before taking similar risks in the future.

Boy Thief Shoots Man, Burns Home Killing Another

MARTINSVILLE, Ind.—(AP)—A farmhouse fire and a shooting that killed two persons were blamed today on a schoolboy pilfering the same purse he had robbed in 1950.

Sheriff Marvin Skaggs said Ronald Wayne Montgomery, 14-year-old seventh grade pupil, signed a statement admitting he shot eight times and killed Herman Taylor, 66, last Friday night. Taylor's house was burned and the charred body of Taylor's housekeeper, Mrs. Elvie Bradley, 82, was found in the ruins Saturday.

The boy said he shot Taylor when the farmer caught him snatching a purse with $10 in it through a bedroom window. Montgomery was on probation for stealing $236 from the same purse previously.

The boy denied setting fire to the two-room Taylor home, but he said some of the shots may have hit kerosene lamps in the house.

Authorities couldn't determine whether Mrs. Bradley was shot or burned to death.

The boy is being held without charge.

Persistent Love For Radio Makes Him Jail 'Steady'

EVANSTON — (AP) — A small table model radio sings a siren song to Norwood Hadley. It has crooned him into the toils of the law for the third time.

Hadley, 22 years old negro, fell in love with the radio in an Evans-ton coal company's office, when he went to work there in July, 1948.

The radio disappeared. Detective Sigmund Wroblewski found it with Hadley and the youth con-fided his affection for it. Hadley was put on probation.

Seven months later, the radio vanished again. Wroblewski's memory was long. That time, Had-ley was sent to the Pontiac, Ill., reformatory.

The same radio was missing again last Friday, and Wroblewski found its recovery no problem. He looked up Hadley and got this ex-planation:

"I've heard a lot of radio tones but there's just no tone to equal that little radio. Even when I was in jail I was homesick for it. All I thought about was some way to get that radio—without being caught."

Democrats, GOP Complete Cook County Tickets

CHICAGO, (AP) — Battle lines in the race for Cook county state's attorney apparently were completed yesterday with election of Grenville Beardsley as the organization-backed GOP candidate.

County Republican Chairman John Leonard East said Beards-ley, a law partner of former Sen. C. Wayland Brooks (R-Ill.), will be recommended to ward and sub-urban leaders at a meeting to-morrow.

The Democratic committee pick-ed Municipal Judge John Gut-knecht as its candidate Saturday.

Incumbent John S. Boyle, a Dem-ocrat, has indicated he will oppose Gutknecht in the April primary.

Gutknecht and Beardsley were selected by slatemaking subcom-mittees of their respective par-ties' Cook county central com-mittees.

The 80-member Democratic committee was called into session today to pass upon the selection of Gutknecht.

Formal approval of the Beards-ley candidacy by the Republican central committee probably will await completion of the GOP slatemakers' work. The sub-committee today considered can-didates for coroner, recorder and clerks for the superior and circuit courts.

Canadian Beauty Vanishes on Fishing Trip in Florida Keys

By TOM CHASE
MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—The mys-tery of the Canadian beauty who vanished while fishing on the over-seas highway in the Florida keys deepened today and her husband was reported near collapse.

"They've got to find my petite wife," said short, stocky George Lemay, holding back the tears. "They've got to."

South Florida law enforcement officers were doing everything pos-sible to locate Mrs. Hughette Le-may 21-year-old member of a well-known Montreal French Canadian family.

Case Baffling
Her brother, Raymond Daoust, young Montreal criminal lawyer, and the distraught husband work-ed closely with Deputy Sheriff James Barker in an attempt to solve the baffling case.

This was their problem:
Hughette and her husband, a 26-year-old Montreal real estate dealer, were fishing on the south side of Toms Harbor Bridge No. 4, about 12 miles north of Marathon Friday night.

At 10:30 p. m., Hughette, who was wearing shorts and halter, left George to go back to their con-vertible and change into dunga-rees. The distance was about 150 yards.

Spans Deep Water
The bridge spans deep water on the highway which runs from Mi-ami to Key West. A strong cur-rent flowed between the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico and the night was dark and overcast.

Hughette walked along the nar-row, cement strip on the south side of the bridge and vanished.

Barker and State's Atty. J. Lan-cetot Lester were considering these possibilities:

Fell or Pushed
Hughette might have fallen or been pushed into the water while returning to her husband. Her shorts were found in the car and a pair of dungarees, a green jacket and a white T-shirt were missing, indicating she had changed her clothes.

She might have been picked up or kidnaped by a passing motor-ist. Her brothers and relatives in Montreal said they were convinced she had been kidnaped and pos-sibly taken to Cuba.

The Lemays were married in Montreal May 19, 1951, and honey-mooned in Miami. They came here last week for a month's vacation.

CANADIAN BEAUTY MISS-ING—Mrs. George Lemay, Mon-treal, Canada, is missing since she went on a fishing trip in the Florida Keys off Miami, Friday night. Mrs. Lemay placed 6th in the 1951 "Miss Canada" contest.

Better Retail Business Seen In Coming Year

NEW YORK, (AP)—Better re-tail business is in prospect for this spring but most merchants will have to work a lot harder to get it, delegates to the 41st annual convention of the Na-tional Retail Dry Goods Associa-tion were told today.

This statement came in a report on a survey undertaken by the NRDGA in which 400 depart-ment, chain and specialty stores were questioned. A majority of those polled said higher taxes and in-creased costs of doing business will constitute a "serious threat to the profit picture" in 1952.

In view of less favorable profit prospects, many merchants are planning an "all-out war" on ex-penses this year, the association said. Economies such as curtailed delivery service are being ser-iously considered, it added.

Other methods suggested by retailers for trimming costs in-clude increased employee pro-ductivity, work simplification and streamlining of store procedures, more selective promotion pro-cesses, consolidation of freight shipments and pooling of customer services, the survey said.

Three out of five stores ques-tioned said they had no plans this year for building or expansion.

Afflicted With Bladder Trouble, Getting Up Nights, Pains in Back, Hips, Legs, Tiredness.

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to glandular inflammation. Neglect of such troubles often leads to permanent injury.

Glandular inflammation is a con-stitutional disease and it is futile for sufferers to try to treat them-selves at home. Medicines that give temporary relief will not re-move the cause of your trouble.

The Excelsior Institute, an in-stitution devoted exclusively to the treatment of Diseases of older men by NON-SURGICAL Methods has a revealing and instructive FREE Book that tells how many basic conditions and troubles may be corrected with proven methods of treatment.

During the past few months men from over 250 Midwestern Communities have been success-fully treated at the Excelsior In-stitute. They found soothing and comforting relief and a new zest in life.

This new, Free, Illustrated Book deals with Diseases peculiar to men. Gives factual knowledge that could prove of utmost importance to your life. There is no obli-gation. Address Excelsior Institute, Dept. 3711, Excelsior Springs, Mis-souri.

Two Newspapers Throw Support To Eisenhower

NEW YORK —(AP)— General Dwight D. Eisenhower has the support of The New York Times and The Chicago Sun-Times if he makes a bid for the White House.

Both came out for him in today's editions, giving his foreign policy actions as major reasons. They cheered the announcement by Senator Lodge (R-Mass) that Eisenhower's name would be entered in the New Hampshire GOP primary.

The Times supported Thomas E. Dewey over President Truman in 1948, Wendell L. Willkie over Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940 and urged Mr. Roosevelt's election in 1932, 1936 and 1944.

The Sun-Times backed President Truman in 1948 and President Roosevelt in 1944.

The Chicago paper said:
"Neither President Truman nor any of the previously announced Republican candidates measure up to Ike. Eisenhower, of all Americans, can best bring unity to this country and to the free world."

The New York Times said that "the prestige of the Truman ad-ministration—which has done many good and bold and necessary things in certain fields of foreign policy—has been steadily de-clining."

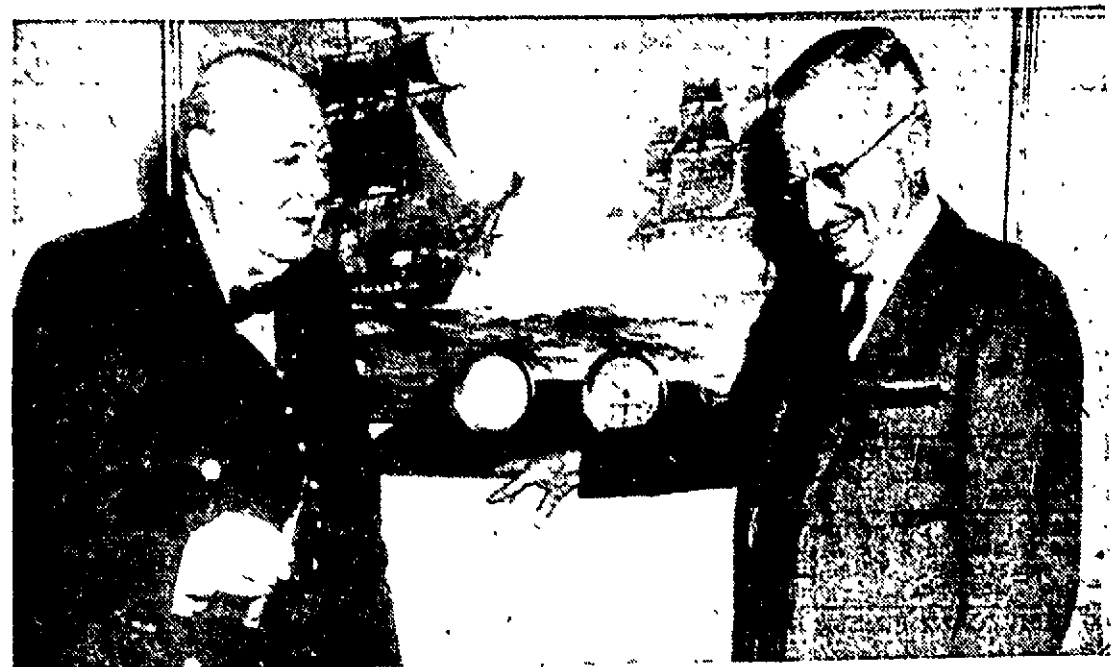

It added:
"We are confident that he (Eisenhower) would be able to lead even laggards among his fellow Republicans away from isolation and toward world responsibility."

EXCHANGE POW MAIL
PANMUNJOM, KOREA —(AP)—A batch of 159 letters from U.N. prisoners of war was turned over to United Nations postal officers today by the Communists. At the same time, the U.N. turned over 1,087 letters from the United States to be delivered to men in the Red prison camps.

BRIDGES CANDIDATE
WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sena-tor Bridges (R-NH) said today he has agreed to become a candidate for senate Republican floor leader with the stipulation he would hold the job only one year.

The post was vacated by the death of Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska.

LEADERS ENJOY JOKE—Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Truman chat aboard the presidential yacht, Williamsburg, as preliminary talks between the two got under way. It Costs $3,600 to Make Draftee Ready for Service Overseas

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The army estimates it costs about $3,600 and takes approximately eight months to make a draftee into a soldier ready for overseas service.

That is the outlay for the average inductee from the time he gets his pre-induction physical until he arrives at an average overseas unit such as one in Ger-many.

Under the present 24-month draft law, the soldier will be use-ful as a trained member of a combat force for only the 16 months remaining after his train-ing.

Because of the limited time of his service, the average draftee can be of no use in meeting the increasing requirements for tech-nically-trained soldiers to handle modern weapons—including radar detection and aiming equipment—guided missiles, communications systems. Up to 13 months is needed to produce the high level specialists needed. Army officials said today in answer to reporters' questions.

In making a rough estimate of the cost of training an inductee, the army included such items as the cost of his physical examina-tion; travel to a nearby reception center (an average figure seemed to be about $1.90 for fare); pro-cessing him with "host," outfit-ting him; travel to a basic training center; basic training (the biggest factor, set down for this average draftee at about $2,700); processing him again for overseas shipment; overseas shipment.

A spokesman said that if the estimated $3,600 training and pro-cessing cost is spread over his subsequent 16 months of service with an overseas unit it "means that the average cost of simply making a soldier available for ac-tual service is equal to $225 for each month of productive service." This would be in addition to costs accruing during actual service it-self.

BOMB REDS
SAIGON, INDOCHINA —(AP)—Squadrons of French planes con-tinued today to shower thousand-pound bombs upon Communist-led Vietnam convoys moving guns, ammunition and other war supplies into North Indochina from Com-munist China.

The French hope by smashing Vietnam communications to de-stroy their chances of launching an offensive from north and north-east Hanoi and also to cut off supplies for Vietnam divisions de-ployed along the Black River 40 miles southwest of Hanoi.

82nd Congress, With Eye on Elections, Starts Term Tuesday

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The 82nd congress starts its election-year session tomorrow, with politics likely to weigh heavily in all major actions.

The next six months are expected to bring forth decisions, one way or the other, on such major matters as Universal Military Training, foreign military and economic aid, economic controls at home, and defense spending.

Leaders are hopeful the session can wind up in time for the July political conventions so members can go home afterward for the fall campaigns.

All at Stake

All house seats will be at stake in the November voting. So will 32 senate seats, as well as the presidency and the vice-presidency.

Because of the approaching elections, observers generally expect the session to be marked more by talk than by action.

President Truman will blueprint his legislative program in his state-of-the-union message Wednesday. That will be followed by two more messages, one on economics and the other transmitting a federal budget expected to exceed 80 billion dollars for the year starting July 1.

The president is expected to renew his request for many of the things he has sought, and failed to get, in the past. Among these are civil rights legislation, compulsory health insurance, and tougher wage, price and rent controls.

He may ask for more taxes, since congress didn't give him as much as he wanted last year, but his chances of getting them are slim.

It isn't likely, either, that congress will go along with the president on civil rights legislation or on compulsory health insurance.

The present outlook is that the president won't get what he wants in the line of wage, price and rent controls, either.

Investigations, providing heavy ammunition for political campaigns, will constitute a major legislative activity. Committee probes will delve into charges of graft in high places, scandals in

Starts Gun Battle With Cops, Loses

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)— The only explanation Oscar Roe offered last night for an hour-long gun battle with police and sheriff's deputies was: "I was protecting my property."

That's what Roe, who was wounded four times by police bullets, told Lt. Wayne G. Miller who questioned him at a Columbus hospital.

All the excitement started when sheriff's deputies, cruising in a car past Roe's house, heard a gunshot and saw their car's red light shattered.

The deputies didn't know where the shot came from, so they radioed for help. As officers assembled around the cruiser car, another shot was fired at them.

They saw Roe run to his three-room cottage. But when the officers approached the house, Roe shot at them through the doorway.

Police fired back at Roe but he refused to come out until a tear gas bomb set his house afire.

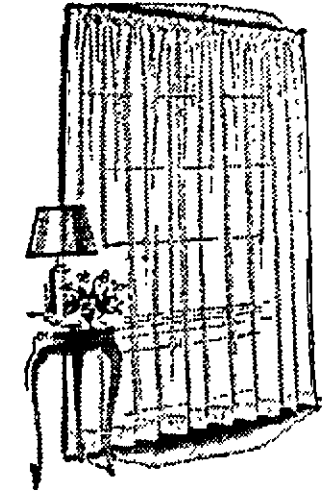

No officers were injured. Firemen put out the blaze at Roe's house. He is a farm laborer.

Average July temperature in Wyoming is 65.7 degrees.

Once Wealthy, He's Broke and Happy at 97

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)— "My one mistake was that I out-lived my money."

That's how 97-year-old Thomas Linton McCullough sums up his fate which tumbled him from a once-wealthy cotton planter to a broke nonagenarian living in a boarding house on a $50-a-month old age pension.

Before he retired 22 years ago, McCullough built up a fabulous fortune which kept the wolf away from his door until six months ago. That's when the money ran out.

McCullough, still an erect figure with a flowing white beard, explains it this way:

"Both my mother and father died at 72 and I reckoned I could not exceed this by more than eight years."

Retired at 75

So, at the age of 75, he retired with what he thought was enough money in the bank to last him the rest of his life.

At 80, McCullough revealed, he bought an airplane for "one last fling" across the continent, into Mexico and South America.

"I figured three or four 'more years would take me out.'"

But when he returned three years later, he was still going strong.

As the years rolled on past the 85, 90 and 95-year marks, the "last flings" continued and so did McCullough. His money gave out first.

Not Sorry

McCullough insists he isn't sorry he played it that way, however.

"Do you think I could enjoy it as much as now—at 97 with this arthritis?" he asks. "Do you think I ever planned to reach 97?"

"The only trouble," he reflects, "is that I didn't die at 80... I thought I was going to live just one life. I went on and lived two."

But there's one thing you can bet on, McCullough says with a glint in his eye. That one mistake of living too long "is an error I'm going to go on making just as long as I can."

California Has 252,000 On U. S. Pay

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Where would you find the most federal government workers?

Oddly enough the answer a compilation by the Civil Service Commission, showed today is California—not Washington, D. C.

It is the first time that federal employees in a single state outnumber those in the nation's capital.

The figures, based partially on estimates, show the Pacific Coast state had 252,000 federal employees on Sept. 30. The Washington area, including not only the District of Columbia but also nearby sections of Virginia and Maryland, had 249,900.

The government payroll on that date totaled 2,503,691, of which 173,349 were outside the continental United States.

New York, with 193,700 ranked second among the states. Others ranking high were Pennsylvania, third with 149,900; Texas, fourth with 116,500; Illinois, fifth with 109,900; and Ohio, sixth with 108,300.

VALUABLE PURCHASE

Alaska, during 1948, produced a total of $120,760,735 worth of minerals, salmon, furs, and farm produce, or more than 16 times the original purchase price of the territory.
